Bowser Companies: 8.1%

Major indices showed mixed results as volatility started to ramp back up. Energy stocks continued to outperform as the sector gained 1.9% for the week. The Russell 2000 Index hit a new all-time high on slightly above average volume.

Bowser stocks (up 8.1% for the week) continued to gain with small stocks as a whole. CPS Technologies (CPSH) was the top gainer due to a filing from Ark Invest, which indicated that the fund will start a new space exploration ETF. ENGlobal Corp. (ENG) also continued its high momentum move without any new headlines.

Bowser Notes

CPS Technologies (CPSH) shares soared on high relative volume this week purely on speculation. Ark Invest, a growingly popular investment firm, released a filing indicating the launch of a new Space Exploration ETF. CPSH moved with a number of sympathy stocks, but had significantly higher momentum than the other movers. Its float of 8.1 million shares makes the stock incredibly volatile.

cbdMD (YCBD) also hit a new 52-week high due to overall strength from the industry. YCBD is not as volatile as the average CBD stock, but still gained momentum with its competitors. Aphria (APHA), one of the largest publicly traded marijuana companies, reported strong earnings and boosted the industry on Thursday.
